Hundreds Of Factories For Black Areas

BY OUR INDUSTRIAL CORRESPONDENT

THE new factories of Britain are going up in their hundreds as part of a co-ordinated plan to ensure that employment is evenly spread over the whole country and that wherever men may live, jobs will be available for them.

Up to June 29, the Board of Trade announced yesterday, 1,577 projects for new factories and extensions to existing ones have been approved by the Government. They will eventually provide additional employment for 133,999 men and 100,000 women.

In issuing the building permits, the Government have been backed by a determination that there shall not again be any depressed areas, such as those which existed after the 1918 war when ten existed for years in a hopeless, unmitigated state of enforced idleness.

Today, the manufacturer who wants to build a factory is guided to those areas where the need of work is greatest.

The good results of this policy are shown in the Board of Trade statement that of the new factories sanctioned, 616 are in the black areas.

They will bring much-needed work to 79,999 men and 66,000 women.

BUILDING BEGUN

The North-Eastern development area will have 200 new factories, South Wales 16, Scotland 10, West Cumberland 24, South Lancashire 15, and Wrexham one. Building has already begun on 276 of the factories in the depressed areas, involving a total cost of £5,000,000, of which £12 have been completed.

The progressive benefit to the country of these new factories is being emphasised by Mr. Hugh Dalton, Chancellor of the Exchequer, when he received the Freedom of the City yesterday.

"We are," he said, "60 new factories are building and there will soon be more."

"Month by month this programme of new construction will gather impetus and will take shape in new industrial possibilities."

"We are building more new factories in South Wales now than were built in all the 20 years between the two wars."

"They will give additional employment to three thousand 3,000 Welsh workers, of whom 2,000 will be men and boys."

"The estimated cost of the new factories alone, he indicated, was well over £10,000,000."

13 DIE IN PLANE CRASH

Thirteen of the 49 passengers were killed yesterday when a C-47 transport plane, carrying a Corporation plane crashed near Tunis, after a 10-hour flight.

Engine trouble delayed the plane for 15 minutes after the take-off.

'No Relaxed Efforts'

—Dalton

MR. HUGH DALTON, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in a statement on the passing of the U.S. loan last night, said: "The American Congress has approved the loan. This does not mean that we can now relax our efforts. But it will hasten the time when we can once more play our full part in the world's economic system."

"I take the approval of the loan as a sign that our American friends want to work with us just as we want to work with them."

Washington, Saturday.

THE PRESIDENT pleaded with the United Nations plan for world co-operation.

In closing the debate, supporters of the loan shouted that the decision to aid for U.S.A.'s wartime ally would determine whether the world would turn to Washington or Moscow for leadership.

Russia loomed large in the long, bitter arguments which ended with the speaker, Mr. Sam Rayburn, appealing for approval of the credit to Britain and Western Europe "be pushed into an ideology I despise."

Even before the passage of the loan, the leading New York newspapers in their late editions gave prominent headlines to the approaching vote; and, later, broadcast chains broke into their programmes to announce the passage of the loan.

Under the terms of the agreement, signed last December, Britain agreed to abolish the sterling area dollar pool within one year after the effective date of the loan.

THE TERMS

This will free the nations in the sterling bloc—the Dominions, Egypt, India, Argentina, and others—their dollar credits now under British control for purchases in the United States B.U.P.

Approval of the loan sets the United Nations towards the distant goal of expanding and freeing world trade through co-operative action.

The loan, while vitally important to Britain, is but one piece of the giant plan envisaged by the American and British Governments as a means of eventually eliminating the standards of living in every country.

Putting the entire plan into operation will take years. American and British officials, however, are convinced it is their sole hope for averting an economic war between nations that might lead to disastrous armaments races.

Trade between nations is expected to flourish because of a result of the loan, but not nearly to the extent anticipated after the war.

British H.Q. Germany, Saturday.

THE testing of a "night drive" Volkswagen—the German mass-produced People's car—coupled with the news that talks are going on regarding the possibility of exporting the car, suggests that some of the cars may be sent to Britain.

Under the reparations plan drawn up on March 27, 1946, the production capacity of the German private car industry will be taken up for reparations. Deliveries have already begun to the French Government.

The huge Volkswagen factory at Wolfsburg, in the British Zone, is turning out the car (which costs about £100 to produce at the rate of nearly 2,000 a month). Production is expected to leap when labour troubles are solved.

Three hundred workers are deserting the factory every month, the German Zone, where they are promised more food and better conditions.

A new de-Nazification check took away nearly one-fifth of the workers in the factory in one sweep.—B.U.P.

ESCAPE FROM BOSTAL

Walter Joseph Fairbairn, aged 27, escaped from the Bostal Institution, Dartmoor, escaped from a party outside the prison last night.

BODY IN SHELTER

Mystery and tragedy in which several of the victims were women and children have kept busy the police in London, Norfolk and elsewhere yesterday.

Found strangled at Farncombe, Leam, yesterday, was Peter John Ball, aged 2 years 8 months. The body was found in a shallow water tank at the Bostal Institution. The man's mother-in-law is in Lewisham Hospital with serious injuries.

At Norwich, last night, police were investigating the finding of two bodies.

One was that of a young woman, Doris May Bix, aged twenty-four, of Oringford, who had been missing from her home in London, Norfolk, and was recovered from the River Yare by the Norfolk Police.

The other was that of a man.

When a charge is made in connection with the Frankham Chine murder, it is believed it will reveal the most astonishing "Jekyll and Hyde" case of the century.

For the man on whom suspicion has fallen was known here and in Bourne-mouth as a most charming personality who, in a few short days, became the friend of many people of high social standing.

I understand that the police are taking their time before preferring a charge as the whereabouts of the suspected man is known to them and they can lay their hands on him whenever they wish.

The evening before Miss Marshall's death he is believed to have dined with two highly respectable ladies who even today cannot believe that he is a suspected murderer.

Local detectives were today piecing together final clues in what is one of the most ghastly murders on record.

So horrible are the details of the death of Dorcas Marshall, twenty-one-year-old ex-Wren, that it is doubtful whether even today she could be recalled in full.

I understand that the pathologist, experienced local man, is faced with deciding which of six and of the Jewish Agency. His decision is likely to be made known to-morrow or Monday.

The woman's husband today besides being terribly torn with a sharp implement, Doreen Marshall also received a sharp blow on the head.

It is possible that this might have been the cause of death and that the body was afterwards mutilated.

Ever since the crime has been reopened to the public after the police search of the holiday with bloodthirsty relish.

One well-dressed woman, taking me to be a detective, said: "Do tell me all that's happened. I'm not a bit squeamish."

She had driven 150 miles to the scene of the crime and admitted that her husband was an excellent talking-point at her bridge club.

"PETER" AFRAID?

Other holiday-makers, accompanied by their children, were today looking around the quiescent scene of the murder.

The woman's husband found a demand for £2,000 damages and a monthly allowance of £12 10s. "He can't get rid of us that easily," she said. "I don't care to continue our marriage, but I certainly don't want to speak my mind about him and his sense of responsibility."—B.U.P.

Mr. Griffiths revealed that over £1,000,000 a week would be paid out in children's allowances to mothers of 15 or more. Over 2,000 applications had been received, and of these over 98 per cent. were in order and would receive benefits. There were still three weeks in which to apply.

Thousands Queue For Holiday On The Continent

£30 AS A PASSPORT TO LUXURY

FROM A "PEOPLE" STAFF REPORTER

LURED by stories of unlimited food and clothes without coupons, the Englishman who can afford to spend £30 or £40 on his annual holiday—has it permitted to take £75 out of the country—is off to the Continent this year if he can get there.

It is not too easy. Every day there are queues outside the travel agencies, the passport offices, the railway stations. Every boat and every aeroplane leaving for the Continent is full.

At the Automobile Association's headquarters 300 motorists are lined up waiting for their cars for a Continental tour. Outside the offices of Thomas Cook and Sons people queue for hours.

"We have to close our doors at 4 o'clock, an official told me, and then it takes us four hours to deal with the people who are inside. Scores of thousands are going overseas. Hundreds of thousands would if it were possible."

Midget Race Hope Is 7 lb.

Girl Baby

BABY girl, weighing nearly seven pounds at birth, may yet be another link in producing a race of midgets.

Her 20-year-old mother, Mrs. Myrta Swenson, is the world's only recorded daughter of midget parents.

"Doctors told us that Myrta was the only midget mother of midget parents on record," said Grandfather Myrta. "Then they said a midget race was out of the question unless Myrta had a midget."

"Now we're hoping that the baby, whom they've called Nancy Gill, will be a midget, which would prove that midgets could be a midget race."

Father says: "We want the baby to be a midget. It would be a good thing to have a child we can hold—not one that will have to hold us in a few years."

At the moment the doctors aren't sure the baby, who is under construction, suggests it might be a midget, will grow up that way.

U.S. Survey Reveals

A-Bombs Did Not Beat Japan

Washington, Saturday.

THE Hiroshima and Nagasaki atom bombs did not defeat Japan, nor did they, according to the testimony of many of the Japanese leaders who ended the war, "persuade" her to accept unconditional surrender in August, 1945, declared a report today of the U.S. strategic bombing survey, ordered by the War Department.

The survey, by the U.S. Strategic Bombing Survey, the Prime Minister, Foreign Minister and Navy Minister had done so early as May, 1945, that the war should be ended even if it meant the loss of the islands of Honshu, Hokkaido, Kyushu and Shikoku.

The survey attributed Japan's defeat to the blockade of sea communications, military operations cutting off her military potential, and the threat of invasion of her home islands.

Based on detailed investigation of the facts and supported by the testimony of the surviving Japanese leaders involved, it is the survey's opinion that "certainly before December 31, 1945, and in all probability before November 1, 1945, Japan would have surrendered even if atomic bombs had not been dropped, even if Russia had not entered the war, and even if no invasion had been planned."

The report concluded—Heuter.

ROLAND WILD'S AMERICA LOG High Lights Of A Gay Week-End

W HILE knocking-off time comes on Friday nights for the 50,000 people who can count on being actually in the big business, apart from twice that number of hangers-on at 5,000 dollars a year, the roads to the coast 15 miles away are jammed, the movies showing the oldest films in the world are jammed for till midnight, and the stars, if not working against the clock and their inclinations, are in swimming-pool lines with marble, looking over farm accounts and plucking their own oranges, sitting at the tiller of a yacht in the sun, or acquiring a bar-lan in one of the joints where there are flowering palms outside and outstretched palms in the interior.

One week-end some 112 people die in automobile accidents up and down the coast, 300 rescued from drowning by the beach guards at Santa Monica and Hermosa, and the great majority in no danger of drowning whatsoever as they are exhibiting their new and fancy swimming suits, subject to the City Decency Laws, at 25¢ per suit or 40¢ a yard of material.

A quick survey of the week-end activities shows that golf, yachting, farming, swimming and hanging about the place claim an equal proportion of victims and addicts. The Bogarts and the Flynns may yachting at Newport Beach, may June Wilson, and Dick Powell, who fish down there.
